

Canada Life

For all people who want to study abroad

By Sakura Ueda

Study Abord

---

This website was written by a 16-year-old me who is actually studying in Canada.

I hope this website will help those who want to study abroad.

Is studying abroad difficult? Hard? pleasant? To you with such questions.

Frequently Asked Questions

---

1. How much English skills do we need to study abroad?
2. Is studying abroad fun? or Hard?
3. How soon can we become to speak English?

How much English skills do we need ?

---

This is a concern for anyone who wants to study abroad. My English skills before studying abroad were really low. Before coming to Canada, my English level is about 30 out of 120 in the universal TOEFL test. If you can speak English perfectly, the more enjoyable your life in Canada is. But if you can't speak English now, the important thing is that you want to be able to speak English. And the more you use English at your study destination, the better your English skills will be. So your English proficiency doesn't really matter.

Is studying abroad fun? or hard?

---

The answer is both. To be honest, there are many hard times. A different culture is much bigger deal than I thought. Also, the lack of language makes me alone. When I first came to Canada, I cried every day. But the more I can speak English, the more I like myself and the more I can be proud of myself. Even though my English is still not perfect, there are many things that I find fun. And above all, I have grown a lot.

How can we become to speak English perfectly?

A year and a half later, my English is not yet perfect. But a year later, you can almost understand what people are saying. Also, your daily conversation will be almost perfect. However, in class I find many new words every day. So I feel the class is very difficult. The speed at which English grows depends on your efforts and the amount of English you speak. In Canada, if you speak your native language every day, English will not improve. I try to learn new English words every day. I think it is important to speak English as much as possible.

Thank you for watching!

Hope these informations will help you guys!!
Good luck with your dreams!